Chant: Eagles UP? Response: Flying HIGH!!!

Alumni:

Let me remind all of you why going to NCCU was the best decision you could have made:

NCCU Law school is ranked No. 1 best value law school in the nation

NCCU is the No. 1 public HBCU in the country

Friendships and memories

NCCU is the nation's first public liberal arts college founded for African-Americans

Legendary NCCU head football coach George Quiett received the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart for his service in Korea with the U.S. Army from 1950-53. He was named CIAA Coach of the Year in 1969 and MEAC Coach of the Year in 1971.

Stop and take a moment to reflect this Labor Day-before you put the hotdog on the grill, the cheese on your burger or the BBQ sauce on the chicken (September is National Chicken Month)-about the countless contributions Dr. James E. Shepard made to the strength, prosperity, and well-being of 'Dear Ole NCCU'.

...NCCU Launches New Centennial Website...

NCCU launches a new Website to commemorate the university's Centennial year and to invite alumni, students and friends to join in the celebration. The site, located at <http://www.nccu.edu/centennial>, will offer an online portal to North Carolina Central University's history in Durham as well as a glimpse into the future of the institution. "This University has touched a myriad of lives and strengthened communities worldwide," said Charlie Nelms, chancellor of North Carolina Central University. "James E. Shepard, the founder of this institution was a visionary. He looked into the future and saw what education would mean to people of color. And, 100 years later, NCCU is a testament to his insight."

There will be an opportunity for alumni to add their stories of achievement to the archives and legacy of this university. All visitors to the site will be invited to share about the role NCCU played in their personal histories. "We're reaching out to fellow alumni to tell us how NCCU impacted their lives and careers," said Carlton Thornton Class of 1994, member of the Centennial Alumni Committee and president of the Durham Alumni Chapter. "The Centennial is truly a celebration of what we have become."

The site will also serve as the central portal of information throughout the Centennial for events, including cultural and educational opportunities. "NCCU invites students, alumni, and the public to learn more about the university's mission and its storied history," said Centennial Committee Co-Chair Bill Evans. "The launch of this site is a resource for news about Centennial activities and the beginning of a remarkable year of celebration."

...NCCU Athletics Introduces "Eagle Talk"...

The North Carolina Central University Department of Athletics introduces a brand-new 30-minute weekly talk-show, "Eagle Talk," dedicated to give an inside look at all 14 intercollegiate sports at NCCU. The show will air on the WRJD Rejoice 1410 AM every Tuesday from 2:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Freshman Pinning Ceremony

2009 Freshman Pinning Ceremony
The University Is Growing: So Must We!

By: Vice President Tania B. Davis

It's 3:00 pm and all the chairs on the floor of McLendon-McDougald Gymnasium are filled to capacity. The band is playing ceremonial music, as the members of the dais march in. The Freshman Pinning Ceremony on August 16, 2009, has officially begun. People after people are entering into the gymnasium intermittently and sitting in the upper level because they have arrived late. My view from the platform: it's a well-attended program. When it was time to pin the 2009 freshman class and all freshmen were asked to join the others seated on the floor, the whole upper level of the gymnasium emptied. All of those late arrivals, except for a few alumni who were seated in the same area, were members of the freshman class. What a sight to behold! When the alumni and faculty/staff came to pin the freshman students, faculty/staff and alumni were grossly out-numbered. Unfortunately, not every student was able to experience being "personally" pinned by an alumnus or university employee. Did we disappoint them because they were given their lapel pins "in hand"?

This class size was announced at 1,310. I am sure the next freshman class is going to be larger. This is why we need you! We need all alumni to participate in programs such as the pinning ceremony. The students need to see that alumni care, even though they may not fully understand our role and purpose in their college experience.

As we embark upon celebrating the centennial anniversary, this is a great time to grow our Alumni Association and alumni volunteer base. Let's increase our Association membership, especially during this centennial year. Have you asked an alumnus about joining the NCCU Alumni Association? If not, please encourage one today. We must grow to keep pace with the university's growth.
